

Posted 1/23/2015 at 11:00am

Royal Caribbean has made the decision to delay their arrival back to Baltimore from Sunday at 7 am to Monday at 7 am. This will allow Port operations personnel additional time for snow removing duties. The ship is returning from an eight-day cruise to the Bahamas. It will head out Monday night for a nine-day cruise to the Caribbean

The Port of Baltimore's public marine terminals are currently closed and will remain closed through Sunday.

The Maryland Port Administration has snow team personnel working 12-hour shifts and operating snow removal equipment for the plowing and salting of the marine terminals

The safety of the men and women who work at the Port of Baltimore is paramount.